DESCRIPTION

This CLE is designed to remind us that how we practice law matters just as much as the outcomes we achieve. In a profession built on advocacy, civility is more than just good manners—it is a powerful tool for persuasion, credibility, and trust.

Moore (Ret.) – JAMS, Seattle

Commissioner Eric B.

Watness (Ret.) – JAMS, Seattle

SCHEDULE

11:45 a.m. > Webcast Log-In Opens

11:55 a.m. > Welcome and Introductions

- Jennifer Holderman – Washington State Bar Association, Seattle

12:00 p.m. > The Core of Your Profession is Civility

60 minutes, 1.0 credits Other

This engaging CLE program highlights:

- Why civility is essential to effective advocacy, client confidence, and the reputation of the profession.
- Practical ways to maintain professionalism even in high-conflict situations.
- The unique role of civility in mediation, where respect and constructive communication can make the difference between impasse and resolution.
- How leading with civility not only elevates your practice but strengthens the integrity of the justice system.

With real-world examples and actionable strategies, participants will walk away with a renewed understanding of civility as a core strength—not a soft skill—that supports better results for clients and fosters respect in every legal setting.
